We all grow up with money myths from our parents and people who have influenced us in our past.

Most of us have some of the following ingrained beliefs:-

- Money is dirty
- Money is the root of all evil (actually the bible says the love of money is the root of all evil)
- I don't deserve to be rich
- Money is only made by greedy and dishonest people
- Money corrupts
- You mustn't brag about money - never say how much you earn, are worth or paid for something (unless it is a bargain)
- You can't have money and be spiritually pure
- You will lose your friends if you get rich
- You have to work too hard to get rich
- Happiness and money make poor bedfellows
- The more you have, the more you will want
- It is somehow better to be poor
- I wasn't meant to be rich because if I was it would have happened by now.
- I am not the right type to be rich

Have a quick look through and check which ones you believe?

Write down the ones you identify with and relate to.

Ask yourself the question - Why do I believe it?

Have you actively thought about it?

Have you reasoned it through?

Have you researched these ideas?

Or are they inherited, left over, picked up along the way beliefs?

The next challenge is to get rid of any that you can question and see as nonsense.

Discard any that simply are not true and filter any that hold you back and stop you making some money.

Aim to be left with a blank sheet of paper and now you can write new positive beliefs such as:-

- Money is OK
- Wanting money is OK
- I am going to be wealthy
- I am prepared to put in the hard work

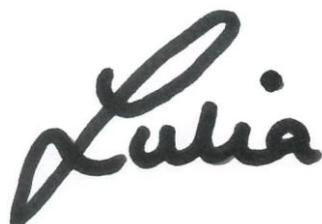

Wealthy people have none of the troublesome money myths poorer people have. They have purged them or never had them in the first place!

If we too purge them, we stand a better chance of getting there!

Enjoy the challenge and embrace the learning!
