

Summer Blog 2013

A new home for FPP!

I hope that you have enjoyed the lovely sunny weather this summer!

As we are quickly approaching the new Autumn term where we naturally think of a new school year and new season I find it is always worthwhile spending some time just thinking on new goals & objectives.

Defining what success means to you and recognising that NOW is the only time we can be sure of and so fully appreciating this day is vital to our wellbeing.

Knowing in advance what personal success means for you will help in establishing a timetable to your chosen destination. Writing a personal development plan by defining the what, how and when will help your mind dare to explore freely a multitude of opportunities.

Here at The Financial Planning Practice Ltd we have had an eventful summer with our offices being relocated to a new, modern and contemporary town location.

The move has enabled us to offer our clients appointments at their home and also at our new offices for ease and convenience in a confidential relaxing environment.

We are greatly looking forward to this new season with a continued commitment to rise to the sky and maintain at all costs our standards of excellence.

John Wooden, a basketball coach extraordinaire quoted simply –

“Make each day a masterpiece”.

With this truth firmly in mind finding the balance between living in the moment and staying aligned with our longer-term aspirations is a challenge for us all and one to be embraced.

Wishing you all every success in the pursuit of excellence.
